Community Groups could raise funds at market

Paparoa's long running Farmers' Market is opening up a space for community groups to run a fundraiser stall at the regular Saturday market and for Christmas, there is a hamper to be won.

Part of the atmosphere of a market is the ability to get a sausage, hamburger or other fast food on the go. Bacon sandwiches have been a feature of the market since it began and, with other groups now able to offer a variety of simple ready to eat food, the travelling public will have plenty of choice.

Already a number of groups

have expressed interest in this opportunity to raise funds. First off the blocks on 5 December is the Brethren Church who are raising money to support Paparoa Rural Fire Force. Supporting their stall will definitely help a good cause.

Community groups who are interested in running a food stall on an occasional basis should call Graham (431 7209) to discuss the criteria and book a space.

There is a Christmas hamper to be won. In the three weeks up to Christmas, each $10 spent at any stall gets you a ticket to enter the draw for a prize made up of market stall products, valued at over $100, plus there will be other prizes. See you there. PP

School raises funds for cancer

This year the staff, students and families of Paparoa school have been affected by cancer in many ways. The school has decided to support the ongoing work of the Cancer Society Auckland-Northland by organising various fundraising events over the next month: on Saturday 5 December a group of parents will hold a fundraising BBQ at the White Rock Gallery Summer Fair; and on 11 December teachers Julie Harper and Helen Taua will shave their heads at the end of year assembly.

If you would like to support these fundraising efforts please visit our Everyday Hero page to make an online donation, or call in to school where we have collection buckets. https://cancersocietyauckland.everydayhero.com/nz/paparoa

Our annual Grandparents' Day was enjoyed by all and we loved having so many grandparents and surrogate grandparents to visit. As it was our Book Day, we all had fun dressing up as a favourite book character. Our children enjoyed sharing their work and reading with the visiting adults and especially enjoyed the shared lunch.

Athletics Day also saw lots of visitors supporting the children as they ran, threw and jumped

Our thanks to Clark from Sport Northland's Project Energise who has been working with each class over the past few weeks developing athletics skills.

Children represented our school at Bream Bay Inter-School Athletics Day at Waipu Primary. Our younger children attended a Junior Tabloid Sport event at Maungaturoto Primary, while Year 6s enjoyed a fun day at Otamatea High.

The Life Education bus returns in December with Harold the Giraffe. We finish the year with a whole school visit to Pahi for a picnic and day of fun.

Our End of Year Assembly is 10am Friday 11 December in the Paparoa Hall; everyone is welcome to attend. We would like to thank our community for their ongoing support of our school and wish everyone a Merry Christmas and restful summer. Julie Harper

Money Exchange facing closure

The Maungaturoto Money Exchange opened in 1999 when the two local long serving banks closed down. Just two days after the last bank closed, The Maungaturoto Community Trust (which operates the Maungaturoto Rest Home and retirement village) opened the new facility.

Ever since then, services have included cash withdrawals, same-day bank deposits to all NZ banks (before 2pm), foreign exchange, and bank cheques. Transaction fees are charged to cover operational costs, and everyone except the teller, works on a volunteer basis. All local community organisations are fee-exempt and most use the MME regularly, as do local businesses. While there are two ATMs in town, there's still no bank within a 50km radius. Says one business owner, "It's a crucial part of running our business and to lose the service would be a huge loss to the community."

However, while many loyal local businesses and residents use the MME regularly, overall traffic is decreasing and fee income is down. Now operating at a loss, the MME faces closure in the new year. Although times have changed and banking has evolved, we think we have a place in the community, but we need your help and patronage.

If we have a future, please let us know now.

Come and see us, and bank with us ... Now! We are open Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 9am-4:30pm with a half-hour break at 1pm. Free parking for MME customers is just outside 143 Hurndall Street inside the First National Roper & Jones Building, 09 431 8028.

Any questions? Look us up on Facebook "Maungaturoto Money Exchange".

Well, I don't know about you but Xmas has come early. Shops work overtime, tempting our children; makes life harder for all. What do they do with all of the things left over? Full price before Xmas, half price after? What causes family grief? Lack of money, food, and lack of healthy living.

Thanks to those who are donating fruit, vegetables, etc. to us and the Foodbanks (you know who). You are amazing. We've had four workshops this year; lots of laughter had by all. Very successful, and looking at next year already. Any suggestions? Now that markets are on every Saturday until Xmas- it's a winner. So have an outing, picnic, play in the park with the children, take a bush walk – ALL FREE! A family adventure. And have a happy and safe Xmas.

Eighty-four people came to hear Ken Ring speak at the Paparoa Hall on the evening of Monday 16th November. The Lions Club of Paparoa invited members of the Rotary Club of Maungaturoto and Districts and others interested in weather predictions.

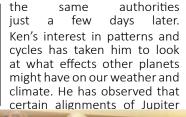

Ken Ring did not disappoint. He entertained us all with a quick and dry wit. He studies climatic and weather cycles and the effect that the moon has on them. He believes weather patterns tend to repeat over 19-year cycles and showed a number of weather maps to highlight the likenesses.

Ken creates a | m a n a c s of weather predictions for the year ahead using the weather patterns from 19 years ago.

Ken's not afraid to speak his mind and has particular affection for other weather prediction organisations, eg: NIWA - meaning No Idea What's Ahead. He showed with humour some newspaper clippings of weather and climate predictions - and divergent predictions from and Saturn correlate with droughts. The position of the planet Mercury with respect to the sun also appears to have an effect on temperature.

Ken's theories extend also to the effect the moon has on our sea currents and he spoke of a Land Tide, which is the displacement of the earth caused by the magnetic pull of the earth's iron core towards the moon. He spoke of this effect causing earthquakes and referred to his predictions around the Canterbury earthquakes.

While Ken's theories may challenge what we have been taught, history shows > that sometimes these challenges to commonly accepted scientific theories pave the way for further scientific development. Ken Bing's Almanacs and book on his theories can be obtained via ken@predictweather.com.

Otamatea Christian School PTA did a great job of catering the event. Funds raised will go towards resurfacing their tennis court and other items. A raffle raised $214 towards Wellsford Lions Club's project for library furniture for children at Kaiwaka Primary School.

Plunket Ready Steady Wriggle

Fancy dancing to music, ripping paper, watching it float, then making a ball to kick around? How about playing hockey with a magazine and a small ball?

What about watching and catching magical bubbles or feathers?

Does your child like to roll playdough? Did you know that this simple activity encourages a multitude of skills like eye development, eye-hand coordination, fine motor left and right brain integration and midline laterality.

Changes at Maungaturoto Pharmacy

You may have noticed that there have been a few changes at Maungaturoto Pharmacy in the last few months.

Having joined the Unichem group, Unichem Orrs Pharmacy Maungaturoto now offers a larger range of products at better prices, with both Living Rewards and FlyBuys available. The team offers great service, expert advice and help.

However, even more change is on the way. Phil Dodd, the pharmacist since 2005 is moving on. Phil says that he has really enjoyed working in Maungaturoto for the last 10 years, and that he will miss being a part of the community. Phil is returning to the UK where he previously lived and worked for 15 years.

Our new pharmacist will start in December. Many of you may recognise Simer who has worked in Maungaturoto before, relieving for Phil when he was away. Simer has worked at different pharmacies within the Northland Orrs Pharmacy group - Dargaville, Kaikohe, Ruakaka and Whangarei. He has gained a good insight into the health needs of Northland patients.

Recently, Simer completed a post-graduate qualification in Clinical Pharmacy, aiming to achieve better health outcomes for people in the community. He welcomes all health, medicine and nutritional queries and can assist with a medication plan to improve medicine management.

Simer is looking forward to meeting the locals and being a part of the Maungaturoto community.

So, come in, check out the new look pharmacy and introduce yourselves.

We have lots of activities set up each session to help foster children's natural moves to learn style in a safe friendly environment. Come along and join us, we may end up going on a journey into space or even on an african adventure.

Our next session is Monday 7th December, 11am, at the Paparoa Sports Pavillion. Our last session for 2015 will be 21st December, with a Christmas party and visit from Santa, and a shared lunch. Can you please bring a plate to share.

There will be a special holiday session at Pahi on 18th January, 2016, 10.30am followed by a family picnic.

New sessions for 2016 will start Monday 22 February and will be 2nd and 4th Mondays of each month. Gold coin donation appreciated.

We have a Christmas Hamper Raffle at the moment - $2 a ticket or 3 for $5. If you see this around please support us. Tina Ball 021 033 5128

Your health : Anxiety

2nd in a series with Libby Jones

What causes you anxiety? It might be Christmas, exam results, flying, or dealing with particular people. Anxiety is a normal human emotion in response to perceived danger. It occurs when we are facing a stressful situation or feel threatened. But like other emotions and behaviours we are all different in what causes us to be anxious and how we respond.

Anxiety is a feeling of worry, dread or uneasiness. It is fear of a future threat rather than fear of something real and immediate. As a result we may feel tense, restless, nervous and have difficulty concentrating. We anticipate the worst and are on the alert for signs of danger. We may be sweating, our heart racing, breathing fast and feeling sick. To others our response may be seen as an over-reaction to a perceived threat or concern.

Like other stress reactions moderate anxiety isn't always a bad thing. It can help us to stay focused, make us take action and motivate us to solve problems. But when it is ongoing or overwhelming and gets in the way of our daily activities then it may be perceived as an anxiety disorder. Anxiety disorders range from anxiety about anything and everything, through to panic attacks, specific phobias, post-traumatic stress disorder, and obsessive-compulsive disorder.

Most people have experienced anxiety at sometime in their lives, and, while it may feel like anxiety controls us, there are positive things we can do to overcome it.

HALT- If you feel you are starting to become anxious, ask yourself am I Hungry, Angry, Lonely or Tired?

- Take slow deep breaths to relax you breath in for 4, breathe out for 4
- Move about or take a short walk
- Distract yourself watch a movie, listen to music
- Practise thinking positively
- Spend time with supportive people
- Find something fun to do

Most importantly find out what causes your anxiety, what your symptoms are, so you can find ways or help to deal with them directly.

Letter to the Editor

I would like to congratulate the Press team on the monthly instalments of what's happening in our village via the Paparoa Press publication. For a voluntary publication it's informative from all angles, linking our community groups and interests. Keep up the good work, team, as I look forward to the next one in my letter box.

Praise for emergency services

What's more, Colin also says that "local community support has been very heartening". People have phoned, emailed, visited (to make sure he was still alive), and offered farm help. What happened was that Colin was drafting a mob of bulls in the paddock when one charged several times, rolling

Summer gardening

Cabbage trees are flowering incredibly well this spring which, according to folklore, threatens another dry summer. Now's the time to set up some systems to keep your watering needs down and hopefully save your plants. You need to get out there and mulch-mulch-mulch.

I have tomatoes, beans, eggplant and capsicum in. I planted them amongst flowers already growing to hopefully give them shelter and diversity. The lower growing lettuce and tougher leeks are out in the open as they can cope. I will use the space where I'm removing the broad bean plants after their great crop is finished.

I tried an experiment on my lawn last summer. I have large patches of buffalo grass and sparse grass. I watered one area with treacle and water (the treacle tin was rusting in my pantry) and waited to see what would happen. Nothing did until this spring when this area of lawn changed from being dry and sparse to being green and thicker with new clover and other grasses! It's still like this now.

The theory is that the increased sugar in the soil increases fungal growth, which in turn improves the soil water-holding capacity, and therefore encourages better growth. Maybe it was chance - but now I may try one of the other areas except I will have to make up a mix - have no more rusting treacle tins in the pantry to use up!

Enjoy your gardens - hopefully without too much hard work.

Stella

When Paparoa farmer Colin Wrennall had a serious encounter with a problem bull, emergency response vehicles and Auckland's Westpac helicopter flew into Paparoa. Colin says "Our Emergency services are phenomenal and community response has been incredibly heartening". He has nothing but praise for our local volunteer emergency services, who came in full force after one of his 600kg bulls charged and caused him severe multiple injuries. Even in his fearful and traumatised state he clearly remembers the steady, methodical and professional treatment he was given to get him safely to Auckland hospital.

> and tossing him to the ground. With multiple injuries he managed to get himself by quad to the nearest neighbour.

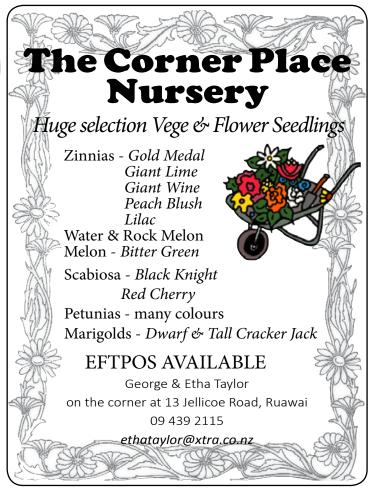

> The resulting two ambulances, two fire trucks and the Westpac rescue helicopter caused quite a commotion on Ariel's Hill.

Thankfully, Colin has escaped permanent injury, but is nursing many broken ribs and has severe bruising.

Colin sincerely thanks the fire and ambulance services who put aside time in their own lives to respond to someone else in crisis when needed.

Otamatea Quilters

The 31st Annual Quilt Show, held at the Kauri Museum during October-November exhibited over 60 entries. It was enjoyed by all and quilters were also in attendance during Labour Weekend.

This year the prestigious Viewers Choice award went to Herta Jackle. A great day out was enjoyed at the Auckland Festival of Quilts where patchwork and quilting goodies were purchased.

Results of the $1 club raffle were: 1st Joan Hoggard, 2nd a Whangarei patchworker, and 3rd Shane Giles of Auckland. The main raffle quilt will be drawn on Nov 28th.

The club's Christmas party will be held at Joy Bonham's Pahi home on 5 Dec and the last quilting day of the year will be 7 Dec.

Pets in the Valley Market Pets ... Xmas nearly here!

Wow, another year nearly over they go so quickly. I guess it's worse if you're an animal because for cats and dogs one year is equivalent to about seven in their aging process. Maybe we all should have parrots and tortoises to reduce the h e a r t a c h e when our good friends pass on all too quickly. Donkeys aren't too bad in the longevity stakes, many living well into their 40s and 50s.

Anyway, as with the end of year, Christmas is fast approaching and is a reminder to again make sure that gifts of chocolate are well out of reach of the dog (they can't read the labels to know it's not for them). Also, make sure nobody decides to give Fido some left over ham as a treat, especially the fatty bits as they can cause nasty gastritis or worse, pancreatitis. Watch the little ponies too, especially if (hopefully) a bit of rain keeps the grass lush. I have seen lots of ponies with laminitis this spring, which is a cruel and painful thing. Exercise and food restriction plus proper foot trimming are essential to keep these wee guys safe.

But as for us humans I'm sure a little excess in the food and drink department will not be such a bad thing. Hopefully you all get to catch up with some of the special people in your lives over the holiday period.

Take care, Janine

IIII, KIDI . . . FOI FOI XOU . . .

Jingle Bells, Jingle Bells, Christmas all the way!

While you kids might often think that Christmas is all about what you can get, more importantly it's about what you can give- especially to those special people in your life who do so much for you.

There is plenty of time in December to make some great gifts, and decorations to give to loved ones.

Some awesome- cheap- ideas spotted on the internet:

Wind chimes, made from driftwood.

Rocks, painted to make paper weights.

Decorated jars, as vases, or candle holders.

Bath bombs, using easy kitchen ingredients.

Artwork, in a cardboard frame painted by you.

And there are hundreds more, just an internet search away. (Try "homemade gifts by kids").

Sun Catcher

MATERIALS: Plastic yogurt container lid, PVA glue - or glue that is clear drying as possible, string or thread, glass vase gems.

HOW TO DO IT: Fill lid with glue. Put lots in as it will shrink as it dries. Arrange the glass gems in the lid - filling out to the edges makes it look really nice. Squeeze more glue on top.

Allow to dry for 3-4 days and then peel out of container. Find a section of the sun catcher near the edge where the glue is relatively thick. Push a threaded needle through that area. Figure out how low you want the sun catcher to hang and tie a knot there. Hang your Sun Catcher in a sun-shiny spot!

Teenage Brainwaves

The teenage brain is different to the adult brain. The parts of the brain where rational decision-making and impulse control occur are temporarily 'shut for renovation' in teenagers.

Nathan Mikaere Wallis from the NZ Brainwave Trust spoke to teenagers, parents and teachers at Otamatea High School recently about the latest research on alcohol and drug use on the developing teenage brain.

He showed that both cannabis use and alcohol use cause changes in teenage brains, more so than in adult brains, which affects their ability to carry out certain activities, as well as creating lasting changes. The more teenagers drink the greater the change.

We know that adolescents are more likely to take risks and seek excitement, without always having good impulse control. This is because the areas of the brain associated with sensation seeking are activated around puberty. The parts for exercising judgment and self-regulation are still maturing (shut for renovation) throughout adolescence, usually into the early 20s for girls and mid-20s for boys. year.'

The October AGM went well with the reelection of existing Board members plus the addition of new member Craig Jones. We thank all those in the community who have supported OCS over the last 12 months.

Your Community House is often busy with visitors, clients, and enquiries. If you'd like to come in for a chat and a cuppa you'll be most welcome. Our staff and volunteer team receive lots of fresh produce from Arty Farties - grocery items for the food bank, plus huge boxes filled with items such as handknitted dolls, hand-made quilts and packs of baby clothes from Zonta of Mangawhai. We always welcome any offers of volunteer support, particularly with the monthly seniors' lunch. We held a barbeque at OCS House for White Ribbon Day in November.

We've enjoyed networking with other local agencies this year and look forward to this ongoing collaboration in 2016.

We wish you all a safe and happy Christmas and New Year, a time to acknowledge the reason for the season. We close for the year on 22 December and re-open 18 January.

Tinopai School fishing Jan 2016

Kia ora koutou katoa! Hello and greetings to you all!

Tinopai School's annual fundraising event, The Tinopai Fishing Contest, will be held again this coming January. As before, we do rely on our sponsors and on donations to provide the patrons of our 'fun day' that extra little buzz!

Although Tinopai School is rated decile 1, we are indeed prospering and enriched by the ongoing support and encouragement of the wider community. Funds raised this time will be further allocated to the School Van investment fund and towards fulfilling the Education Outside the Classroom (EOTC) component of our school curriculum. In an effort to retain our senior students, we propose an away trip to further learning experiences and to broaden their horizons. We will possibly travel to the capital city with all its iconic and historical landmarks.

We're planning a fun filled, action packed day with bouncy castle, coconut shy, face painting and other kids' activities. For those spending the day fishing on the Kaipara harbour, I can guarantee plenty of BIG fish out there. All you have to do is catch them!

There'll be 300 ticket sales and we will cater for a crowd of 400. As well as our renowned hangi, there'll be other food stalls, or you can pack your own picnic. Bring a sun umbrella, and enjoy the day in Tinopai. Friends of the School (FOTS) are appealing for quick draw spot raffle donations. We also seek sponsors and cash donations entertainment, for the equipment, and activities. Every little bit helps and is greatly appreciated. l'm always blown away by the generosity and consistency of those willing to give.

It's not the same without YOU and we look forward to seeing you there on Saturday 9th January.

Changes I have seen ...

from June (Edsel) Weber who 'in those days' lived at Hukatere.

When I, a city girl, married a dairy farmer in 1951, I was introduced to shopping on line. Yes, the telephone line! My shopping list was organised for the twice-weekly delivery day, and anything missed had to wait until next time. Bread, fresh from Paparoa's bakery was wrapped in white paper by the grocer - unsliced of course! Biscuits, ordered by the pound or half-pound, were packed in brown paper bags as was sugar, flour, rice, and dried fruit. Our weekly grocery order was wrapped in newspaper & brown paper, tied with string, name printed clearly, amongst the 40-or-so other orders. Farmers also did 'online' shopping - for nails, staples, fencing wire, bags of cement, sacks of wheat and bags of fertiliser, often charged on the monthly grocery account. Haberdashery, underwear and work clothes were often bought unseen ('online'). You just had to guess the size! Our general store sold almost anything and service to the customer was their main priority. No plastic bags and no click of the mouse in those days!

Our apologies to Gravy: Last month's text should have read:

"... a week ago WE caught 13 snapper one day and 12 the next"

[Our article was unclear in respect of the number of people on board, not just Gravy himself. Sorry Gravy?]

Gravy tells us there are not many good fish about at the moment, but sharks are plentiful.

Paparoa Playcentre calling

Playcentre is open Tuesday and Friday 10am-1pm. A total of 14 children from 10 families attend regularly. An amazing bunch of enthusiastic mums all have great ideas to make sessions fun for our kids. We had our ups and downs through the year and a bit of a lull but, back on track, we're again in full swing.

We've had new shade sails put up over our sandpit and playground area and also purchased new equipment- musical instruments, farm and jungle animals, a clothesline, grocery store with till, new cushions and mats for the baby area and library, and much more.

Our AGM is coming up which is a great opportunity for parents to take on a role and be involved in running our great little Playcentre. Summer's here and mums and kids are loving being outside with lots of waterplay and outdoor fun happening. The kids have started their vegie garden; strawberries being the first planted. Paparoa Playcentre is a great place to bring your babies, toddlers and pre-schoolers to interact with and meet other children and is also great for mums to meet one another and make new friends. There are loads of indoor areas with something for every child to explore as well as the outdoor areas with endless fun and activity. If you'd like to come down for a visit and take a look around, have a coffee and a chat, we would love to see you and your little ones.

Stop in anytime, or phone us on 4316653.

5 Questions for ... Gaylene Northcott

When did you decide to become a hairdresser? By the age of six my poor dolls suffered countless hairstyles and cuts. At 14 I was working as a 'trainee' after school. Those were the days when you worked for free until there was an apprenticeship or a job available.

Why start a salon in Paparoa? Robyn Skelton's fault! She approached me when the previous hairdresser in Paparoa closed. Apparently, Paparoa really needed someone esle, and so I started up, fitting in my working day around my children's needs.

What do you love about hairdressing? Love the creating, the playing with colours. The way you can get the hair to "go" just right. Being an artist with hair.

What are some of the challenges? Being practical. Challenges like encouraging grey hair to merge naturally with a chosen hair colour or coping with customers not bothering to cancel bookings, meaning not only loss of income, but losing the possibility of other bookings.

A funny memory? A customer having dreamed of being blonde yelling across the street soon after her transformation, "It's not true blondes have more fun. I want to be a brunette again."
